

JUDGE PAROLES WOMAN BIGAMIST

MRS. HARRY THORNBURG IS SENTENCED TO FROM 2 TO 5 YEARS IN THE WOMAN'S
PRISON IN INDIANAPOLIS—
PLEADED GUILTY TO CHARGE.

HER CONDUCT MUST BE GOOD

Mrs. Emil Wilde, alias Miss Freda Fisher, who, while living here under the latter name, was married to Harry "Boody" Thornburg, and who later was arrested in East St. Louis, by Sheriff Stroube and brought here to answer to a charge of bigamy, was before Judge Hughes this morning and, on her plea of guilty, was sentenced to
from 2 to 5 years in the Woman's Prison in Indianapolis.

The judge paroled the woman,
however, and she will not be confined in the prison, provided her conduct is proper. The woman will be under the jurisdiction of the officers of the Woman's Prison for the next five years and at any time her conduct warrants, she can be arrested and made to serve out the sentence.

The judge informed her that she could not live with Thornburg until she secures a divorce from her
first husband, and legally marries Thornburg. She will be required to make monthly reports to the officers of the prison during the next five years.

To Appear Before Board.
Sherman Griggsby, custodian of the Hadley home for dependent children at Hadley, near Danville
says he will appear before the board of directors of the Children's Home Society of Indiana tomorrow evening to defend his administration of affairs at the home and to demand
an investigation of charges of neglect of the children. The license for conducting the home, which is maintained by the society, was recently revoked by the board of state charities, and the meeting of the directors is to determine whether the society shall continue to conduct the home.—Indianapolis News. The above is of interest here
as two Greencastle lads were inmates at the home. The home has been transferred to the Indianapolis
Orphans' home.

The Teachers' Training Class of the Presbyterian Sunday School will meet tonight at the city library. All are urged to attend.

Roachdale Visited by Storm.

The fierce wind which blew here
all day on Saturday reached a climax about 10 o'clock in the evening at a point about four miles south of here, when it became a small cyclone and for a width of about a quarter of a mile it swept everything before it. Luckily there were not many buildings in its path.
Fence posts were lifted out of the ground and wire fences were twisted in a tangled mass. The force of the wind was so great when it
seized the posts that the staples
were jerked out, freeing the posts
from the wire and thus allowing them to be scattered in every direction. Forest, fruit and shade trees snapped off like tooth picks
and fodder shocks were picked up and scattered over other people's farms. The chimneys were blown off the home of Nathaniel Call. Several buildings in town also were damaged. Mr. Gregory's house and barn were both badly damaged and Mr. Clark's storage house lifted from its foundation.

Son of Apple King Here.

Turley Burton, who, with his wife,
spent Monday here the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hazelett, went to their home in Orleans Monday night.
Mr. Burton, who is a son of the great apple king, Joseph A. Burton, stated while here that he and his father had more apples in their orchards this year than all of the other orchards in Orange and Lawrence counties combined. The State Horticulture Experimental Station
is on Mr. Burton's farm near Orleans. Mr. Burton stated that apple experts are now trying to obtain a cross between the Grimes Golden and the Ben Davis. He says that the experts want an apple
having the flavor of the Grimes
Golden and the hardness of the Ben Davis. Such an apple would be a great fruit for the market.

Divorce For Mrs. Tarkington.

A decree of absolute divorce was today granted in the superior court of Marion county to Mrs. Louisa Fletcher Tarkington, wife of Booth
Tarkington, novelist and playwright.
Mrs. Tarkington had not asked for alimony. Mrs. Tarkington was granted the custody of her 5-year-old child, save for one month in the year. The alimony compensation was settled out of court. Mrs.
Tarkington in a public statement
said the differences between her and the defendant were temperamental
and they could not reconcile views.
He never had shown her unintentional kindness, she said.—Indianapolis News. Both Mr. and Mrs.
Tarkington are well known here.

A trio of "pennies" will give a dancing and vaudeville stunt at the Lyric tomorrow evening. The three,
with their father, claim to be from San Francisco and are travelling
through the country giving performances.

STREET WORK IS ENDED FOR YEAR

NO MORE WORK ON THE SQUARE
IMPROVEMENT UNTIL SPRING
—SUPERINTENDENT DOWNEY
ORDERED TO PACK UP TOOLS AND QUIT JOB.

WILL COMPLETE IN SPRING

As has been stated in The Herald
on several occasions during the past six weeks, the square improvement
work will not be completed until spring.

Superintendent Downey, who has had charge of the work for the Madison Construction Co., has been ordered by his company to pack up his tools and discontinue all work
for the present.

Now that the first course of stone
is on little can be done until warm weather sets in. The asphalt which will be rolled into the surface of the street, must be put on during warm weather. There still remains some unfinished concrete work. This work cannot be done either until warm weather sets in.

So Greencastle will have to do with stone streets during the winter months. The leveling down of the stone already on the streets,
probably is the only work which will be done until spring time arrives. However, more stone may be hauled to the streets, as the matter
will not interfere with that kind of labor.

The Revival Meetings.

Last night marked the beginning of the second week of the special services at Locust Street church.

A large and appreciative audience was present to hear the Rev.
John Benson, of Terre Haute, who preached an excellent sermon on
"Selling Cloaks to Buy Swords."

On one occasion, Jesus sent His disciples out without purse or scrip,
and again He commanded them to take these things, and also, "He
that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one." As if the God of love and peace had changed
into a God of war.

We find in the Scriptures, other passages which may seem to contradict each other. "Bear ye one another's burdens;" then "For every man shall bear his own burden."

That the birth of Christ brought
"Peace on earth, good will toward men;" and again Christ's own word,
"I came not to bring peace but a sword." Rev. Benson showed clearly that there is absolutely no contradiction, but that these statements
represent opposite sides of the same great truth. All Christians should be peaceful, but not to the extent of passiveness, and non-resistance to evil. There are times when it is necessary, not only to be good, but to be aggressive.

Mr. Benson closed his sermon
with an earnest appeal to all to identify themselves with the cause of Christ, to take a decisive stand for the right and to use the Sword
of the Spirit in helping to banish evil, and advance the Kingdom of God in the world.

Mrs. Livingstone sang a very impressive solo, which was followed by an inspiring testimony and consecration service. This evening
there will be a prayer meeting at 7 o'clock. Mr. Benson will preach at 7:30. His subject will be "The Drying Up of the Brook." These services are really helpful, and you are cordially invited to attend.

Vandalla Conductor Dead.

George Likert, a retired Vandalla passenger conductor, former yardmaster for the company in Terre Haute, died Sunday at the home of relatives at 3446 Rutger street in Indianapolis. Death was believed to have been due to heart trouble. Arrangements for the funeral have been postponed until a nephew, George Likert, Jr., of Omaha, can be located. The burial will take place later in the week at Crown Hill cemetery at Indianapolis.—Indianapolis Star. Mr. Likert
was well known here.

Four Generations There.

Mrs. Ellsbury O'Hair entertained
at dinner on Monday for her husband, it being the occasion of his 84th birthday anniversary. The sisters and brothers with their families and husbands were the invited guests besides the immediate family. The lovely country home was heated by rousing fires and the dining-table was spread the length of the back parlor and dining room.
The flowers were yellow chrysanthemums and the place-cards were decorated in the same flower, the work of Mrs. Oscar Thomas. A sentiment was written on each card and was read by the guests. The center piece on the banquet table
was composed of fruits and colored candles. The rich autumn tints of the grapes, apples and pears shone
out under the lights from eighty-
four candles, arranged on a glass
pedestal. Small colored candles were placed at each plate. The dinner was elegant and elaborate, consisting of seven courses. Mrs. Alva Thomas, Mrs. Chas. Hymer, Mrs.
Oscar Thomas and Miss Myrtle O'Hair, daughters of Mr. and Mrs.
O'Hair, served the dinner. After dinner, which occupied nearly two hours, the guests were entertained with music and Mr. O'Hair passed elder and apples; some of the apples were from a tree in the yard
more than seventy-five years old,
and they were very large, of good
color and flavor.

Mr. O'Hair received several useful and beautiful presents and a score of post-cards congratulating him on this his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary. A photographer made a picture of Mr. O'Hair, his son Clarence, Mrs. Maude Huffman, daughter of Clarence O'Hair, and baby, Burl Huffman, making a group representing four generations.

WHISKEY CAUSES STR AT INTERURBAN STATION

Many people at the interurban
station this morning cast suspicious
glances around as the strong odor
of whiskey permeated through the station. A man, living near this city, left a quart bottle of the "fire
water" at the station this morning for a "friend." In the meantime the bottle was seen by another man,
who, after looking at it, was showing it to another. While the two were jesting over who the "friend"
was, the one holding the bottle let it slip from his grasp. The bottle
struck the floor with a crash, breaking the bottle and spilling all of its contents.

Box For Minister's Family.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the College Avenue
church is arranging a box to send to
a needy minister and his family,
who live in Tennessee and desires
all those who have donations to take them at once to the home of Mrs. S. C. Prevo, as they desire to send the box at once. Mrs. S. A.
Hays, chairman of the committee,
can inform any one regarding the
box and what is especially needed.

Elbert H. Bettis and Miss Sarah
S. Miller secured a license to wed here late Saturday evening and went to Indianapolis Sunday and were married. Mr. and Mrs. Bettis returned here this morning. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Daniel Boone Miller of Vivalia.

The members of the Phi Psi fraternity and their friends were entertained at supper at the Halfway house at Mt. Meridian Saturday evening. The young people rode out on a hay wagon. On their way home
they were caught in the severe wind and rain storm and all were drenched.

The rising temperature of today
brought relief to many who were not prepared for the extreme cold weather. There were slight flurries of snow, and the weather bureau
stats that there may be more of them tonight. However, the prediction for tomorrow is for fair
weather and rising temperature.

Mrs. J. H. Throop, who has been confined to the home of Dr.
Throop, at Carbon, was brought home this afternoon. Her condition
is much improved.

Miss Elizabeth Lockridge left today for Galesburg, Ill., where she will spend the next few weeks with relatives.

T. P. Rockafellow, of Laurel, Ind., is here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Gilmore.

HALF MILLION THE GOAL OF D.P.U. EFFORT

ONLY SIX WEEKS LEFT IN WHICH TO COMPLETE CAM-PAIGN FOR UNIVERSITY'S EN-DOWMENT—MUST GET $500,000.

JANUARY 1, '11, THE LIMIT

Sixty thousand dollars in six weeks!

The raising of this large sum in that short time is the tremendous task before the friends of DePauw University,—an Indiana institution of higher learning which has a large number of friends in this city
and county.

The raising of this amount before January 1st, 1911, will mean an addition of a half million dollars to the endowment of DePauw. The General Education Board, a group of well known experts in the field of education and finance, having at their disposal the income of an invested fund of $53,000,000, after careful inquiry into the character
and work of the institution, some months ago offered to contribute $100,000 toward a fund of $500,000,
the remainder to be raised by friends of the University before the end of the present year. This entire half million is to be used in maintaining the teaching force of the institution.

From less than two thousand persons in the State of Indiana $340,- 000 of the necessary $400,000 to complete this fund has been raised.
Only a few weeks remain in which to raise the remainder and upon the outcome of this effort will depend
the success of the movement for the placing of DePauw University upon a higher plane of usefulness to the people of Indiana and of the entire country.

It is not believed that the appeal
for the funds necessary to enable DePauw to realize large opportunities for service to the State will be made in vain. State pride is added to church pride as an incentive for the most liberal response to the cry for help which comes from Greencastle. For nearly seventy-five years DePauw University has played a large part in the Indiana scheme of higher education.
Though founded and maintained
under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, its doors have been opened on equal terms to
young men and women of all creeds,
and there has never been a time
when the student paid any part of the large amount necessary for the compensation of the faculty. The incidental fees paid by students are exhausted in the current expenses
for the care and upkeep of buildings and grounds and general administration. The institution has been maintained for three-quarters
of a century only by the generosity
the people of Indiana interested in higher education. The raising of a half million dollars would substitute the steady income from an endowment fund for the uncertain
returns of temporary plans for appealing to the public for assistance.

Those who are pushing the campaign for a large permanent De-Pauw endowment do not feel that they are begging—but rather that they are giving to the people of Indiana an opportunity to pay back to the venerable institutions at Greencastle some part of the debt the State owes to it,—this money to be safeguarded for all time to come as a perpetual source of support for the force of the University.

Four years are allowed under the terms of the arrangement with the General Election Board for the payment of the pledges made to the half million endowment fund. Already substantial support has been given from this section of Indiana
to the movement, and it is believed that the people of this city and county will do their full share in the remaining weeks of the campaign toward bringing the campaign
now in progress to a successful conclusion.

Prospects for 1912.

Counting Arizona and New Mexico there will be 531 votes in the electoral college which will elect
the president of the United States in 1912. According to the usual method of figuring, it is safe to count as surely Democratic the following states: Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14;
Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 10; Maryland, 8; Mississippi, 10; Missouri,
18; North Carolina, 12; Oklahoma,
10; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee,
12; Texas, 20; Virginia, 12. Total 175.

States that have strong Democratic leaning and may be reasonably depended on are: Colorado, 6;
Arizona, 3; New Mexico, 3. Total 12.
This gives a total Democratic strength of 187, leaving 79 to be obtained from the doubtful states.

Leaving out all other states that went Democratic in 1910 we find three states which will give the Democratic candidates the necessary votes. They are New York 45, Ohio 24, Indiana 15. Total 84. Grand total 271.

Under the new apportionment it will require 266 electoral votes to elect so these figures show a safe
majority.

Suppose, on the other hand, the Democratic party should decide to make its fight for the west. It would be necessary to carry Wisconsin 13, Iowa 13, Kansas 10, Nebraska 8, California 13, Montana 4,
North Dakota 5, South Dakota 5,
Wyoming 3. Total 79.

With the exception of South Dakota all these have Republican governors, and the Democrats do not control the congressional delegation in a single state.—From the Centralla (Illinois.) Democrat.

C. C. Gillen was in Roachdale, on business, today.

EXPECT MANY AT THE HOME-COMING

MEMBERS OF THE MASONIC LODGE HAVE MADE ELABOR-ATE PREPARATIONS FOR AN-NUAL EVENT TO BE HELD TO-MORROW EVENING.

TO HAVE A BIG BANQUET

The Masonic Homecoming, to be held in the Mason and Odd Fellows'
hall rooms tomorrow evening, will be a large affair. The members of the lodge have made elaborate preparations for the event and expect a larger attendance than at the homecoming last year, when almost two hundred were present. Only the members of the lodge will attend.
Many members now living in other towns and cities have notified the lodge that they will be there.

During the first part of the evening the Masonic Degree work will be given. Later a sumptuous banquet will be served. The eats will be served in the Odd Fellows' Hall,
while the degree work will be held in the Masonic lodge rooms.

Louis Steeg, a former Greencastle
citizen, was here from Indianapolis
today.

The city council will meet in the council chamber at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The condition of Mrs. Fay Hamilton, who has been seriously ill, is much improved.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Greencastle Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Greencastle are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak, aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. Ellen Paxton, 515 E. Washington St., Greencastle, Ind., says: "I suffered a great deal from kidney complaint, especially during the winter. I had severe pains in my back and was often laid up for days at a time. My kidneys were weak and failed to do their work as they should. About three months ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Jones-Stevens Co.'s Drug Store and began their use as I had heard so many favorable reports about them. They relieved me promptly and I have been in much better health since. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy to be had."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LOSES MONEY BUT CATCHES A SWINDLER

Young Frenchwoman
Needs No Police Aid—
She May Yet Marry.

PARIS, (Special).—Mlle. Dubois didn't go to the police when a matrimonial swindler beat her out of $2,000. She caught the crook herself. He is named Lacour, alias Schillman, with five convictions to his discredit. He is in jail in Versailles awaiting trial.

Mlle. Dubois saw an advertisement in a Paris newspaper which read that a "gentleman well fixed" wished to make the acquaintance of a young demoiselle with $1,500 to invest in a business. Object matrimony. The money was just to show a serious inclination, a mere bagatelle to ward off triflers. Being a domestic servant, but ambitious, the girl thought this just the chance she was seeking. She answered the personal, arranged to meet the "gentleman" in Strasbourg and there he married in case all went well. As things did—for M. Lacour. He got Mlle. Dubois' money and decamped.

The girl had just enough left to get back to Versailles. She went back to serving the family of the doctor with whom she had been for years. She never whimpered, nor wept, she worked—and watched the newspapers.

Three months later a personal, worded almost exactly as had been the one which lured her to her undoing, was seen in a Paris journal. She called at the newspaper office and asked to see the original handwriting. She recognized it at once as that of Lacour. Lacour showed up to get responses to his ad.

Lacour—or Schillman—will receive his sixth prison sentence soon. Mlle. Dubois has had, according to report several offers of marriage since her uncomplicated, unweeping attitude brought Lacour to bay. Possibly she will accept one and live happily forever after.

IGNORANCE WAS BLISS.

A great general was taking a regiment into action. He sent forward a detail of men to make gaps in a rail fence to avoid the heavy loss sure to result if the whole body of men paused to tear it down.

The coolest and finest man in the detail was a young soldier who had never been under fire before. When he began pulling down the fence he fancied he had disturbed a nest of hornets, as he thought he heard them singing fiercely about his ears. But the lad was not going to run from hornets when there was more serious business ahead. Ignoring the angry insects, he opened the fence and rejoined the regiment without being stung.

In a day or two he was surprised to hear that he was to be promoted. "But," he said modestly, "I don't think I deserve promotion over the others."

"My boy," replied the general, "I saw you pull down the fence. You were the coolest man under fire I ever saw!"

The man gasped, stared and turned pale.

"What?" he exclaimed, regardless of grammar. "Was them wasps bullets?"

—From an Exchange.

CURED HIM.

An elderly man once consulted a eminent physician about stomach complaints, but there was a formidable obstacle to diagnosis in the patient's being quite deaf.

"What do you have for dinner?" roared the doctor into his right ear. "Oh, no," was the reply: "plenty of that—two miles regularly after breakfast, and two more after dinner."

"How long do you lie abed of a morning?"

"Well, doctor, I shall be sixty-nine this day three weeks."

Without further parley the doctor gave him some simple prescription. At the door the man turned round and in the loud rattling tones of one very deaf, called out:

"Doctor, can you cure deafness?"

The doctor shook his head, and made his lips express "No."

"I thought so. You've been very kind to me. Therefore I make you welcome to this prescription," which he pulled from his pocket adding, "It cured me!"

VACATION TALK.

Simeon Ford, the raconteur, said of vacations at a banquet in New York: "Vacation talk is in the air. Every where you see men wipe their wet brows, look at the thermometer and then begin to talk vacations."

"Two fish in the East River were overheard in conversation the other day."

"What are your plans for the summer?" the first said.

"I expect to get a weigh, as usual, the other answered."

ALAS!

Duh!—"This book says there were fourteen original jokes."

Keene—"What a pity some of them got lost!"—Judge.

Once a Year.

"Yes, sir," said O'Beetle, at the office, "my wife has hit upon the greatest scheme in the world for keeping her servants."

Every one edged close.

"Tell it," came a chorus.

"She's begun to hint what she is going to give the help at Christmas time."—Judge.

WHALES AS RAMS.

Two Resolute and Effective Attacks Upon Vessels.

While cruising in the South Seas the whaler Essex on November 20, 1820, was furiously attacked by a cow sperm whale supposed to have been the mother of a calf which had just been harpooned. The whale had not been wounded herself and her attack was very determined. At her first rush she passed under the Essex and carried away a great length of her false keel; then coming to the surface a considerable distance away she appeared to take bearings and deliberately charged the vessel again, ramming her with such violence that she stove in the bows, while the ship rolled so heavily that the captain thought she must be dismasted. The case is memorable because the crew had to abandon the vessel, and one boat was never heard of again.

A more singular instance of a whale attacking a vessel occurred in 1839, the singularity lies in the fact that in the case of the Handa Isle the attack was entirely unprovoked. This vessel, a brigantine of 260 tons, was on her way to Sydney with a cargo of timber. On August 24, about noon, a couple of sperm whales rose very close to the vessel, and while the crew watched them "sporting" across her bows the pair suddenly slewed around and came straight for her. One thought better of it and dived below the Handa Isle, the other struck her fair and square on the beam, crushing in her timbers. Having rammed the ship in this resolute fashion it sheered off terribly damaged about the head, and presently sank tail first.

Fortunately there were some packages of rawhides on board and the crew were able to keep the vessel afloat with the pumps until a rough and ready collision mat had been fashioned out of these and drawn over the leak.

THE DEMON SNUFF.

Southern Papers Have Taken Up the Cudgel Against It.

The Jackson News has taken up the cudgel against the use of snuff—not the old time method of taking a pinch by the nostrils, but the dipping of Scotch snuff, which was formerly quite common in certain sections of Mississippi and other Southern States and which is still practiced to an extent which one would scarcely believe except for the statistics on the sale of Scotch snuff in these States.

Strange enough, the fight against the snuff habit in Mississippi was started by the barbers' union of Jackson and has been taken up by other labor organizations. Why the barbers should be so particularly opposed to the snuff habit is not clear, except that a man with his under lip loaded with about three drachms of the powder might explode in a sneeze and put the barber's eyes out.

Other labor organizations have taken up the subject and are backing the News and the barbers in their efforts to put down the demon snuff. The Jackson News says that no movement started in that State in recent years seems to have met with such hearty response. In many places in the State clubs are being organized for the purpose of pushing on the work. Members of the Legislature are receiving letters from their constituents in regard to the matter, and by the time the Legislature meets in January public sentiment in the State will have been so crystallized that there will be no trouble in securing the needed legislation.

Wax Producing Insects.

An interesting series of wax-producing insects from India, China and elsewhere has been placed in the British Natural History Museum at South Kensington. From the secretions of one species of these little creatures—found in profusion on the bark of figs and other trees—a number of articles of commercial value are produced. Among these are sealing wax, shellac, seedlac and butterslac, specimens of which are exhibited at the museum side by side with the wax in its original form.

Latin as a Watchman.

How to warn off trespassers without spring guns has been discovered by a canny peasant in the south of France. His woods were invaded by nut pickers. He asked a botanical friend the Latin name for the hazel, nut, and put up the following notice: "Caution—All persons entering this wood do so at their own risk. The Corylus Avellana abounds here, as well as other equally venomous snakes." Not a trespasser has ventured into the wood since.

An aged negro was called as a witness in an Alabama court. Before he was sworn the presiding magistrate directed the usual question be put to the negro. "Do you know the nature of an oath?"

The old man shifted himself from one foot to the other before replying. A sly grin crept into his face.

"Well, judge," said he, "I can't say how 'tis wid mos' folks, but yo' honoh, I reckon it's sorter secon' nature wid me."

Rest assured that most of your stray ideas have come over a neighbor's fence.

"To be twins," said the man, "must be great."

And a kind dispensation of fate, When together indeed

No mirror you'll need

To see if your hat is on straight."

FIGHTING GIRL RESENTS IDEA OF MAN SUB

Highly Indignant Because
Editor Will Not Exchange
Bullets.

PARIS, (Special).—Mlle. Arria Ly, young and pretty girl that she is, is furious because M. Prudent Hassa, journalist, refused to fight a duel with her after she had challenged him to face her on the field of honor. She is a Toulousan.

Mlle. Ly is a feminist—suffragette, some people call her. She thinks a woman as good, anywhere, any time as any man, and is willing to prove it with sword or revolver. No woman, she declared, worthy of the name will ever yield in love to a man, even if she is his wife. Love is foolish.

E. Louis Casale, author of several anti-feminist articles, attacked the young woman rather bitterly for her opinion, an article under his signature appearing in the "Rappel" of Toulouse. The girl immediately sent her seconds—two suffragettes—around to call on M. Casale. They found him absent on the high seas bound for South America. M. Massa, however, the editor-in-chief of the "Rappel," deared that he, himself, would take upon his shoulders the responsibility for the article. Furthermore, in order that she should have no qualms in the matter, and to make it a personal affair, M. Massa criticized, in his turn, and under his own name, the opinions of Mlle. Ly.

The young woman's seconds then went for him.

"I refuse formally to fight with a woman," the editor told the seconds, "or rather I refuse to stand up and uselessly make myself a target for her bullets. On the other hand, Mlle. Ly shall not have the pleasure of calling me a coward. Let her search out some willing man to stand up and fight in her place. Upon this condition only do I consent to fight. In this event, however, I am willing to exchange one, or even several balls in honor of the true feminism which such a man would show—for he, at least, would not consider himself soiled by the touch of love."

This reply made Mlle. Ly all the more furious. Choose a male, a man—a man, to defend her, a woman! Never! Never! Never! So there. And calling M. Massa a coward woman's only—Mademoiselle went back to her writing.

The name, Arria Ly, is a nom de plume. Also a nom de politics, for Mlle. Ly was, at the last election, a candidate for the Chamber of Deputies and got several votes.

PROOF POSITIVE

In all glorious New Jersey it is generally admitted there is no cider to equal that of Farmer Marshall. But he is notable for other things besides. It is said that he would very much rather receive than give—in short, that he is a stingy old rascal.

Young Peterson had heard of this, but he was a young man who had considerable faith in his own powers of passing on the gentle hint, and to some sportive companions he had boasted that he would get a drink of cider out of the old man without actually asking for it. As such a thing had never been known to happen in living memory, there were plenty of takers, and the next day Peterson drove over.

"Morning, farmer!" said he. "Fine orchard you have here."

"Ay," said the farmer.

"They tell me, too, that you have a very fine press."

"Ay," "Is the best in all Jersey."

"Pretty good cider you get, I suppose—eh? But I dare say I've tasted better."

"Not in your born days, Tom"—this to his son—"get 'em draw a mug o' cider."

The luscious beverage was brought, and with a smile of triumph young Peterson held forth his hand to take it.

But the farmer's hand got there first. He drained the mug, and then handed it to the visitor.

"There!" he remarked, "if you think you've ever met the like of that cider, just smell the mug!"

THE WRECK.

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Eastern golf champion, was talking at the Cape May Golf Club about the benefits of sea air.

"To look at the cottagers and natives of Cape May," she said, "speaks of these benefits more eloquently than I could do. How pale and wan seem city people beside these brown, supple, vigorous men and women."

"An excursionist from the city," she resumed, "said to a fisherman on the beach the other morning."

"Do you have any wrecks here?"

"The fisherman looked contemptuously at the city man, who was in bathing dress. He looked contemptuously at his hollow chest and white thin legs and arms, and then he replied:

"You're the fust I've saw this season."

HIS FEELINGS.

She—You were in that elevator that fell fourteen stories to the basement? Mercy! How did you feel?"

He—I was never so taken down in my life.

HIS FAVORITES.

"There are two authors whom every chiropractist ought to have in his library."

"Who are they?"

"Foots and Bunyan, of course."

"Stupid,"—Baltimore American.

THE REASON WHY

He was going to be married in August, and on the last of July met a friend, who had now a year of matrimonial bliss to his credit.

"The only thing that worries me," exclaimed the bridegroom-to-be, "is the subject of expense. I've filed pages with figures and calculations, and have worked everything out carefully."

"Now, look here, interrupted the bridegroom that was. 'I'll give you an absolute fact. I don't spend now half the money I did before I was married.'"

"You don't?" cried the man who had yet to try. "But—how does that come about?"

"Because," replied the other solemnly, "because I never have it to spend!"

DOWN FOR SUNDAY.

"Are you sure there are no lobsters in there, Jessie?"

"The last one left on the 10:20 train and won't be back until late Saturday."

NO SLACKNESS.

He had only recently come from college, but his father, who owned the business, had made him manager, and he meant to make things hum. There would be no slackness where he was!

When, therefore, he met a neatly dressed clerk coming up the office steps at noon he promptly stopped him.

"What time do you usually get here?" he asked judiciously.

"Oh," came the calm answer, "I usually stroll in about 12 o'clock."

"Stroll in! Um! I suppose you leave at a late hour?"

"Generally get away before 3—quite long enough for me."

"Get away at 3! Oh, indeed! Just as I thought. Slackness and unpunctuality everywhere! We'll see about this. Tell me what department are you in? What are you?"

"Me? I'm the man who comes on Mondays to wind up the clocks!"

CHILLY.

"The water seems awfully cold today."

"A couple of Boston girls just took a plunge ahead of us."

She—"You were in that elevator that fell 14 stories to the basement. Mercy! How did you feel?"

He—"I was never so taken down in my life."

WHAT HE KNEW.

"Are you married or single, asked Snipquik, the tailor, as he measured his customer."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the nee suit seeker. "Married, of course! What on earth do you want to know that for?"

"Then let me recommend this, sir," said Snipquik brightly. "My own device, sir—a patent safety deposit pocket for married men. It contains a most ingenious little contrivance that feels exactly like a live mouse. Yes, I thought you'd like it, sir!"

A MYSTERY.

"Perhaps you can tell me."

"What is it?"

"Well, I only go to the woods once a year and I have been wondering what the mosquitoes live on in the meantime."

A generous pinch of salt added to shadrets, loes, mousses, and creams adds much to bringing out their flavor.

ALUMINUM USED; IS TAKING PLACE OF IRON ORE

Available for Structural Work as Well as for Little Things.

WASHINGTON, (Special).—From brochures to skyscrapers, the use of aluminum, or aluminum, as it is popularly known, is rapidly extending, according to a report on the advance of the aluminum industries, made by the United States Geological Survey. The utilities of aluminum seem almost endless, according to the report. It is already certain that it can be used for structural material, as it has been demonstrated that it is highly resistant to chemical action. It can be readily machined and rolled and drawn into wire, also.

Already the nations are beginning to be worried about the supply of iron ore, and this fact makes the advance of aluminum take on a tremendous importance. Back of the Franco-German trouble over Morocco, for example, is said to lie, among other things, the fact that Morocco has vast supplies of iron ore which Germany needs and covets.

Not over a generation ago, aluminum was little more than a curiosity, principally because of its specific gravity. It was worth $15 a pound or more, and its total production in the United States was less than 100 pounds a year, notwithstanding the fact that aluminum is the most abundant of all the metals in the earth's crust, of which aluminum oxide forms about 15 per cent.

The consumption of aluminum in the United States for 1910 was 47,734,000 pounds, with a total value of nearly $12,000,000. The price, it is true, has dropped from about $1 an ounce to about 25 cents a pound or one and one half cents an ounce. The supply, according to the Geological Survey experts, is practically unlimited, only awaiting a cheap process of extraction. It is at present produced only from bauxite, a comparatively scarce mineral.

MISTAKEN.

Joggles is a good sort, but at times he gets worried. You see, he has a large number of little things to worry him. In other words, Joggles is the father of thirteen children.

As a good father should, Joggles took the whole baker's dozen with him on his annual holiday. Was he annoyed at any of the humorous remarks of would-be wags which fell on his ears? No. He simply puffed with paternal pride.

It was a railway porter who annoyed him—a common or garden railway porter. It happened thus:

Joggles and his little lot came up to the barrier, Joggles leading.

"What have you been doing?" demanded the porter.

"No-no-nothing," stammered Joggles.

"Then," thundered the porter, "what's all this crowd follerin' yer for?"

YOUNG DIPLOMATIST.

Taddy, aged 4, often called on his nearest neighbor, Mrs. Brown, who petted him a good deal and usually gave him a couple of her nice cookies, and if she happened to forget to pass them out, he sometimes reminded her of it.

His father learned of this and chided him for begging and told him he must not do so any more. A day or two later Taddy came home with cookie crumbs in evidence.

"Have you been begging cookies from Mrs. Brown again?" asked his father rather sternly.

"No!" said Taddy. "I didn't beg for any. I just said this house smells as if it was full of cookies, but what's that to me?"—Harper's Magazine.

GOOD INFLUENCES.

Bishop William F. Anderson of Chattanooga was praising the value of a good religious influence on the home life of children.

"Even when this influence shows itself in comical ways," he said, "it is still an influence for good."

Bishop Anderson smiled.

"I know a little lad," he continued, "who lives with his grandfather, a deacon of the church. This little lad ran in to his grandfather one day and shouted excitedly:

"Grandpa! Grandpa! Evans' cow is dead! God called her home!"

RATHER STIFF.

"That is rather a stiff assertion," said Senator Curtis, at a dinner in Washington, of a reciprocity argument.</

PERSONAL

Today was a great day for the hunters and they went to the woods in great numbers. The cold weather of the past few days has inspired the nimrods and the rabbits and quail are being slaughtered.

Thomas Stillwell, president of the Madison Construction Co., which is building the square improvements, was here today.

Oll Evans, formerly a contracting carpenter here, who for a year has been on the Asbury Manuel farm in Sullivan county, was here Tuesday. Mr. Evans says he will return to Greencastle within a short time.

Michael Kelley, deputy sheriff, went to Carpentersville today, on business, connected with the sheriff's office.

Mrs. F. A. Arnold went to Indianapolis this morning to spend the day.

Mrs. Sawyer, of Chicago, is here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Durham. Mrs. Durham is a daughter of Mrs. Sawyer.

Reubin Morris, who has been here visiting Sigma Chi brothers, has returned to his home in Indianapolis. Edgar and Henry Prevo have gone to West Union, Ill., for a week's quail and rabbit hunt.

Mrs. I. U. Wade entertained at a linen shower Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Orpha Smith, who is to be united in marriage with Rev. Manford Wright, of Lafayette, on the evening of November 30.

Miss Hazel Bridges entertained the Whist Club this afternoon.

The members of the Knights of Pythias and their friends will dance tomorrow evening.

S. C. McElroy, who lives near Lena, was one of the Putnam people to suffer in Saturday night's storm. His chicken house was blown away and several windows in his home broken. Many people living in the Lena neighborhood suffered small damages.

Mrs. C. C. Hurst went to Indianapolis this morning to spend the day.

Michael Dolin, superintendent of construction of the new Federal building, went to Indianapolis this morning, on business.

Mrs. O. F. Overstreet and Mrs. J. B. Nelson are entertaining at cards at the home of the former this afternoon.

Mrs. J. P. Allen was in Indianapolis today.

Miss Florence Walmer, of DePauw, has returned from Lafayette, where she was a guest at a house party given by the Beta Theta Pi fraternity of Purdue university.

A special from New York says: "Ivan Romanoff, the Russian heavy-weight wrestler, who boasted that he would throw Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle twice in an hour, failed to do so in the catch-as-catch-can match which they had here tonight. The Russian failed to secure even one fall—Dr. Roller is a former DePauw student and is well known here.

Rev. Shouse preached at Delphi yesterday morning and evening.

The Indiana Brotherhood of Threshermen will hold the annual meeting in Indianapolis December 19-20. The meeting will be at the Oneida Hotel. County Superintendent Wright is on the program for an address.

Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson entertained at luncheon today noon in honor of their guests, Mrs. J. M. Hale and Benjamin Huering, both of Mt. Vernon. Dr. Hale, who was here with his wife, has returned to his home.

Professor KleinSmid delivered a lecture at Indianapolis last night. He will give addresses in that city Friday and Saturday nights also.

Miss Hortense Hale, of the University, will entertain at supper at Torr's this evening in honor of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Hale, who is here the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson.

Mrs. E. B. Evans and Miss Harriett Bridges will leave Thursday for Havana, Cuba, where they will spend the winter.

James L. Randel, of the Central National Bank, will leave Saturday for New Orleans, La., where he will attend the American Banker's Association meeting.

Charles Smith, of Allen Bros., is confined to his home on East Anderson street by illness.

Dr. J. P. D. John left Monday for Bloomington, Ill., where he will give a series of lectures.

Mrs. J. T. Dobell, who has been confined to a hospital at Indianapolis, has been brought home. Her condition is improved.

Miss Rose Joslin, of Evansville, has returned home after a few days' visit here and at Delmar. She was called to Delmar by the critical illness of her father, B. F. Joslin. Mr. Joslin is somewhat improved today. Miss Helen Robbins came in from Greencastle Saturday evening on a surprise visit to her parents, remaining until Monday afternoon.—Martinsville Reporter.

O. G. Evans, of Spencer, was here, on business, this afternoon.

Miss Lydia Beeler, daughter of Mrs. E. Beeler, will leave tomorrow for Canal Zone, Panama, where she has a position in the Government schools. Miss Beeler was graduated from DePauw with the class of '10. Miss Beeler will go from here to New Orleans, La., and will sail from that city.

Mrs. Augusta Higert, of Indianapolis, spent last night here with Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Barnaby.

Daniel Craft, of Poland, was a Greencastle visitor today.

Mrs. J. P. Allen was in Indianapolis today.

The Herald is obligated to Samuel Hazelett for a basket of delicious apples of various varieties, delivered Tuesday morning. Mr. Hazelett, by winning many premiums at the Indiana Apple show, proved that he is an apple grower of prominence. The basket of apples sent to The Herald this morning, demonstrated to The Herald force, that the fruit is not only pleasing to the eye, but is delicious in taste and quality.

The Owl Drug Store has installed a new weighing machine in front of the store, which is an innovation in the weighing machine line. Instead of showing your weight on a dial, there is a talking machine inside the machine, which talks right up and tells you your weight.

Miss Ruth Collier, of Terre Haute, is here the guest of Miss Naomi Randel.

Miss Elma Hawthorne, of the University, went to Crawfordsville Monday to attend the wedding of her brother, Ferd Hawthorne, which occurred today. Mr. Hawthorne is a former DePauw man and is well known here.

At the meeting of the city council this evening, Mayor Miller will ask the council to order the Madison Construction Company, which has the contract for the improvement of the square, to improve the present condition of the street crossings on the square. He will ask that the crossings be covered with a layer of fine stone and then a layer of stone dust.

BOBTOWN.

Robert Evans and George Sublett made a business trip to Greencastle last Monday.

Elmer Crouse, of Oklahoma, is working for Marion Bowman.

The recent snow is quite a drawback to corn husking in this vicinity.

Miss Ruth Cagle visited Miss Viola Bowman last Sunday.

Miss Zora Craft is again on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Parry Bullerdick, of Poland, visited homefolks Saturday night and Sunday.

SPIDER HAS HIS USE.

He's the Enemy of the Cockroach and Nabs Him When He Can.

It is too bad so many people are prejudiced against spiders, said the man who always finds out curious things. "If they could stand it to have spiders around they would soon get rid of cockroaches. In the spider the cockroach has an enemy that pursues him with more malevolence than does the cleanly housewife. And not only is this hatred more deep-rooted, it is more deadly. All things considered the cockroach shows mighty little respect for the human race. He knows that, although he is small he is chock full of inventive genius, and he laughingly scoffs the futile attempts of men and women to circumvent and destroy him.

"So long has he been battling for life against paris green, fly paper, hot water, and wire cages, that he has learned to saunter through green lanes of poison and wade rivers of glue without so much as soiling his toes, and when it comes to the scalding bath he swims blithely out and wriggles his whiskers in derision at his would-be slayers. But he dares not treat the spider with such disdain. In fact, he doesn't have a chance, for the spider outdoes even the cockroach in cunning, and nabs him without the least ceremony.

"Still, it would be hardly advisable to recommend raising a crop of spiders as a sure preventive of cockroaches, for in most people's minds the exterminator is more objectionable than his victim."

It was in a country tavern where a newly arrived commercial traveler was holding forth.

"I'll bet my case of samples," he said, "that I've got the hardest name of anybody in the room."

An old farmer in the background shifted his feet to a warmer part of the stove.

"Ye will, will ye?" he drawled. "Wa'al, I'll have to take you up. I'll bet $10 against your samples that my name'll beat yours."

"Done," cried the salesman. "I've got the hardest name in the country. It is Stone."

The old man expectorated. "Mine," he said, "is Harder."
